

AZENTA LIFE SCIENCES, INC

RECRUITMENT PRIVACY NOTICE

Introduction and scope of privacy notice

This Recruitment Privacy Notice explains the type of information Azenta Life Sciences, Inc and its affiliates and subsidiaries (collectively "Azenta" or "we") process in the context of recruitment, why we are processing it and how that processing may affect you.

What do we mean by "personal data" and "processing"?

"Personal data" is information relating to you (or from which you may be identified) which is processed by automatic means or which is (or is intended to be) part of a structured manual filing system. It includes not only facts about you, but also intentions and opinions about you.

"Processing" means doing anything with the data. For example, it includes collecting it, holding it, disclosing it or deleting it.

Personal data revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, health, sexual orientation, sex life, trade union membership and genetic and biometric data are subject to special protection in some jurisdictions.

Your personal data

We process your personal data for the purposes of fulfilling our recruitment practices. Some of the personal data that we process about you comes from you. For example, you tell us your contact details. Other personal data about you is generated from references and third-party companies such as recruitment agencies. Your personal data will be seen internally by managers, administrators and HR.

How long do we keep your personal data?

If you are successful in your application your data will be kept on your personnel file. If you are unsuccessful, your data will normally be destroyed twelve months after you have been informed that you were unsuccessful.

Transfers of personal data outside of the country in which you are located

We are headquartered in the United States and have offices around the world. Therefore, we may transfer your personal data outside of the country in which you are located to members of our group or to processors. Where necessary, these transfers are covered by intra-group transfer agreements or data processing agreements. If you wish to see details of these safeguards, please contact privacy@azenta.com.

Contact details

In processing your data, we, and in some cases our group companies, may act as a data controller. Please contact us at privacy@azenta.com if you have any questions.

Legal grounds for processing personal data

What are the grounds for processing?

Under data protection law, there are various grounds on which we can rely when processing your personal data. In some contexts, more than one ground applies. Two of those grounds can be summarised as Legal Obligation and Legitimate Interests. We outline what those terms mean below:

Term	Ground for processing	Explanation
Legal obligation	Processing necessary to comply with our legal obligations	Ensuring we perform our legal and regulatory obligations. For example, providing a safe place of work and avoiding unlawful discrimination.
Legitimate Interests	Processing necessary for our or a third party's legitimate interests	We or a third party have legitimate interests in carrying on, managing and administering our respective businesses effectively and properly and in connection with those interests processing your data. Your data will not be processed on this basis if our or a third party's interests are overridden by your own interests, rights and freedoms.

Processing sensitive personal data

If we process sensitive personal data about you, as well as ensuring that one of the grounds for processing mentioned above applies, we will make sure that one of the grounds for processing sensitive personal data applies, including (for example) that the processing is for equality and diversity purposes to the extent permitted by law.

Further information on the data we process and our purposes

Examples of the data and the grounds on which we process data are in the table below. The examples in the table cannot, of course, be exhaustive.
